

KEEPING YOU SAFE ON CAMPUS

Dear Participant,

IMD's COVID-19 Task Force has implemented wide-ranging precautionary measures at our Lausanne campus to safeguard the health and wellbeing of our community. These precautions, designed in line with recommendations from the Swiss authorities and the World Health Organization, are among the most advanced and stringent in any place of work or learning in Switzerland.

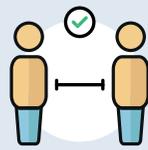

The health and safety of our program participants, staff and wider networks remains our utmost priority as we deliver face-to-face programs on campus. We are taking a five pillar approach to ensuring a safe environment on campus.

HAZARD SCREENING

Pre-arrival communication and temperature checks

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT

Minimum necessary number of people on campus

ENGINEERING CONTROLS

Ensuring clean environments through facilities management

ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROLS

Managing office and communal zones, such as restaurant

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Additional support in confined spaces

Through this comprehensive approach, the following measures will remain in place until further notice:

- Pre-arrival surveys and clear guidance for participants and visitors
- Regular temperature screening for all participants, staff and visitors
- Dedicated quarantine room
- Home-working for all non-client facing IMD staff
- Vulnerable persons should avoid campus until further notice
- Masks mandatory in public areas and available on campus
- Increased airflow and air filtering inside our buildings
- More frequent cleaning of study rooms, auditoriums and open spaces
- Health awareness campaign on campus
- Social distancing in line with Swiss regulations, via signage and seating plans
- IMD restaurant open with full hygiene and social distancing protocols
- Rapid "track and trace" system
- Plexiglass partitions in study and work areas
- Campus-wide availability of sanitiser gel and disinfectant
- Bi-weekly COVID-19 tests for IMD faculty and employees on campus
